		Formative assessment methods include Continuous Internal Evaluations (CIE) through class tests, quizzes, seminars, and assignments. The students participate in competitions, debates, paper presentations, and quizzes at School and University levels. Since all students complete a research/field project and appear in comprehensive viva, which are two better direct measures of student learning. According to the University's guidelines, at least two written class tests are given as internal assessments, along with an assignments, presentations, seminars and quiz for continuous assessment. The marks of the students in the end semester exams are mapped with the course outcomes and the percentage of attainment of a particular outcome is being ensured. The sessional as well as end semester examination consist of theory and practical aspects. The students are evaluated on the basis of class room learning, laboratory learning and field projects for their experiential learning. In all Post Graduate programmes the field projects or research projects are mandatory. The University also ensures course/program outcomes attainment in following ways: • The questions in the question paper have been mapped with course outcomes (COs) and Bloom's Taxonomy level (BL). • The attainment is measured with the help of ERP system and this helps to monitor the outcome level of student's learning.
5.8	What methods of evaluation of answer scripts does the University follow? Whether external experts are invited for evaluation?	For both internal and external examinations, the assessment methodology is chosen with the learning outcomes to be measured in mind. Their evaluation is formative at the department level and summative at the University. Formative assessment methods include internal evaluations such as tests, quizzes, seminars, and assignments. According to the University's guidelines, at least two written tests are given as internal assessments, along with an assignments, presentations, seminars and quiz for continuous assessment. The assessment is continuous and comprehensive evaluation and it is done by the faculty members of the School/Department/University. The practical examination and theory examination at the end of the semester are administered by both internal and external examiners. The participation ratio of external examiners is up to 50 percent. The external examiners are involved in several tasks, including the formulation of question papers, assessment of answer copies, administration of practical examinations, and providing complete viva voce assessments. The list of qualified external examiners is approved in the BOS meeting and the same list is sent to the office of COE who finally sends the invitation to the external examiners for setting question papers and the list of external evaluators is provided to the respective evaluation centre. The CS/ACS invite the external examiners to evaluate the answer scripts at the centre only. The PhD coursework paper is subject to evaluation by external examiners, who also assess the answer copies. The PhD scholars undergo regular evaluation by external experts during the RDC meeting, which takes place every six months. The marks of the students in the end semester exams are mapped with the course outcomes and the percentage of attainment of a particular outcome is being ensured. The real test for achieving programme outcomes is ultimately carried out in the industry's laboratory. Yes, external experts are invited for evaluating the copies of end-semester examinations, conducting viva-voce examination, project evaluation, Ph.D viva-voce exams, etc.

5.9	Mention the number of malpractice cases reported during the last 3 years and how they are dealt with.	Zero, minor unfair means (UFM) cases were reported and closed with warning (wherever applicable). No major malpractices were reported.
5.10	Does the University have a continuous internal evaluation system?	Yes, all programmes offered at IFTM University follow continuous evaluation methods. Continuous evaluation of students through continuous internal assessment is a crucial component of the teaching and learning process. The students have been consistently motivated to diligently study in order to enhance their academic performance at our University. The process of tests and evaluation for all individuals is administered by the Controller of Examinations of the University at the end of each semester. At the commencement of every semester, the students get instructions regarding the syllabus and the process of evaluation. The evaluation of students' achievements through a formative method encompasses a range of academic activities, such as seminars, presentations, group discussions, unit tests, assignments, and project submissions. The evaluation of students' topic knowledge is based on their proficiency in presenting, communication, and language fluency. Class tests are administered, consisting of both subjective and objective questions. Students are required to submit their assignments within the designated time frame. The faculty organizes group deliberations in the classroom.

		The internal examination committee is responsible for devising and executing an internal evaluation procedure aimed at evaluating the academic achievement of students before their university examinations. The scheduling of internal examinations is aligned with the academic calendar. The outcomes of the internal examinations are communicated promptly. The respective faculty member organizes a face-to-face meeting with the students. The students receive information regarding their strengths and weaknesses in order to facilitate their further development. An analysis of the results is conducted to identify learners who are either slow or advanced.
5.12	How are the question papers set to ensure the achievement of the course objectives?	The Board of Studies (BOS) approves the question paper pattern and the list of question paper setters. The question paper pattern as well as the list of paper setters is sent to the office of the Controller of Examinations (COE). The COE selects the paper setter and sends the invite to set the question paper through email to the respective examiner. The email contains the guidelines for paper setting, syllabus of the respective subject. The syllabus contains the course objectives and course outcomes. It also has the mapping of course outcomes (COs) leading to the achievement of the programme outcomes (POs). The syllabus also has co-curriculum enrichment mapping. The examiners set the question paper as per the guidelines and the syllabus of the subject. The question paper contains subjective and objective questions both. The question papers of few programmes are bilingual and satisfies the provision of Indian Knowledge System (IKS) proposed in NEP 2020. The questions in the question paper are mapped with course outcomes and Bloom's Level and specific marks which help in assessing the students. The questions cover all the levels of the Bloom's Taxonomy. The question paper are set in the manner that allows teachers to evaluate the performance of their students in accordance with the course objectives and course outcomes.
5.13	State the policy of the University for the constitution of board of question paper setters, board of examiners and invigilators.	The question paper setters for the end semester examination are approved by the Board of Studies of different departments and schools. The appointment of Centre Superintendents (CS) for conducting end semester examinations is carried out by the Controller of Examination, with the agreement of the Vice Chancellor. The CS subsequently designates ACS inside their schools. The responsibility of invigilation is assigned to faculty members by the CS and ACS in consultation. Each examination session requires a minimum of two invigilators to be assigned to a room. The rotation of invigilators is subject to periodic changes, as the invigilation duty chart is automatically generated via the Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system. The CS issues the appropriate guidelines for the invigilators.

KOHA is a web-based ILMS, with a SQL database (MySQL) backend, with cataloguing data stored in MARC21, Unicode, SRU/SRW, Z39.50, and SICI Barcode standards. Through extensive modules, KOHA provides overall management of library operations. Federated Searching with customizable look and feel, User notification via e-mail and SMS, and other services, as well as interactive features such as online reviews, ratings, renewals, and reservations, all contribute to patron satisfaction. Acquisition, Cataloging, Circulation, Serials, Article Indexing, Web OPAC, and Customizable Reports are the modules of KOHA. All actions in the circulation sector are supported by the software modules, including book issue and return, book reservations, reminders and recalls, and overdue charges. The Web OPAC allows login based user interface to search the whole collection, with results indicating where a book can be found at a specific location/library. The software also keeps track of daily footfall.
